

G. Mathys

European Southern Observatory, Casilla 19001, Santiago 19, Chile

Current knowledge of observational properties of A star magnetic fields is reviewed. Important open questions, whose answers require additional observational constraints, are emphasised.
